Subject: 🕒 Important Update on Weather Communications

Dear CPU Families and Staff:

Winter has arrived and with potential weather conditions ahead, I want to update families and staff on our communication process.

As superintendent, timely and consistent messaging is a priority. On February 5, 2025, we followed our usual procedures (email/text, local media, and social media), but a technical issue with Infinite Campus prevented text messages from being sent. Despite troubleshooting, the issue persisted to some extent the following morning.

We have escalated this concern to Infinite Campus to prevent future occurrences. Below (and on our website) are the platforms we will continue using for weather-related updates.

One final note: All communication platforms have limitations. Some local media outlets may not post updates until morning as some are not staffed overnight. However, barring a complete technological failure, I am confident our three main platforms will provide timely and consistent communication, even if one experiences issues.

1: EMAIL & TEXT NOTIFICATIONS

Notifications via Infinite Campus Messenger.

2: LOCAL MEDIA

KCRG, KGAN, and KWWL.

3: SOCIAL MEDIA

Facebook and X.

Thank you for your continued support of our students, staff, and schools. Have a great weekend!

Regards,
John W. Elkin, Superintendent
